Animal relocations

SPONSORSHIP PACK 2019

A dead Rhino Fetus found inside a massacred female rhino brutally slaughtered so they could barbarically cut off her horn!

Hope was a magnificent 5year old white rhino cow from the Eastern Cape of South Africa. She was one of five rhino poached that night and the only one to survive. Her story was one of hope - that maybe we as humans could somehow undo the horrific injuries she sustained during that fateful night. Her struggle to stay alive and her tenacity caught the imagination of people the world over and thrust the poaching crisis, and the continuous rhino genocide, in South Africa into the spotlight

The vast amount of illegal elephant tusks found across many locations in China. Stockpiling is now rife due to a potential increase in the price of ivory due to potential extinction of these mammals.

ABOUT ME

My name is Chris Holcroft, and until recently, I was, the CEO of a reasonably large, successful IT Staffing firm. The company was R121 and focused on helping Corporate America find the necessary talent in areas such as SAP, Big Data and Cloud Technology.

In June 2018, I sold up and (somehow) made a reasonably large donation to an “Elephant, Rhino & People” company ERP.

Off the back of my donation and my ever growing enthusiasm for photography, I was offered the unique opportunity of visiting South Africa to experience all areas of the astonishing operation that goes into the relocation process of these endangered species.

I was hooked in an instant.

ABOUT WILD911

Wild911 has been conceived out of a need to help 'at risk' Elephants & Rhinos to live happy lives in new, safe, protected areas free from the world of inhumane poaching.

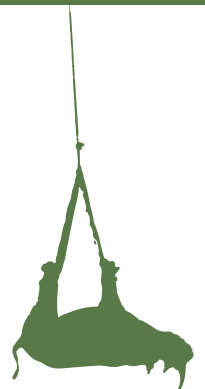

There they will thrive and survive ... rather than try and die.

Wild911 will help with the capture and relocation of Elephants and Rhinos in areas of South Africa, and with consistent funding and support, it will hopefully in time be the organisation that saved the day for these creatures.

We will travel, film, photograph and promote the processes involved to sustain this much needed human effort on behalf of these animals. You can help us achieve this!

WHAT I DID

I relocated 16 Elephants. 6 went to a reserve where there hadn't been Elephants in over 100 years. 10 went to Buffalo Kloof which is where I was posted and met Warne & Wendy Rippon. I filmed the release of the 10 at Buffalo Kloof and got to see them happy and eating away in their new home the very next day. This is where I got 'that feeling!'. That this is what I should be doing with my life right now.

After traveling with these insanely beautiful creatures over 1,200 kms to their new location, I witnessed the Elephant's gingerly exiting the trailer, steady their legs again and take their first steps to their new life in far safer environment, out of harms reach from poachers!

I have honestly never felt such joy in my heart for another living group of creatures in my entire life. It is with no doubt, you would feel it too (when) you experience it, as we have opportunities for our sponsors to come visit us and take part in one of these life changing events! Hopefully there will be many!

It's an expensive process with humans, medication, trucks and helicopters required.

WHY I WILL CONTINUE

During my African Adventure, I met many Incredible people, dedicated to Elephant & Rhino and Wildlife conservation. People that have dedicated their entire lives to trying to prevent these Animals from being poached, hunted and driven into extinction.

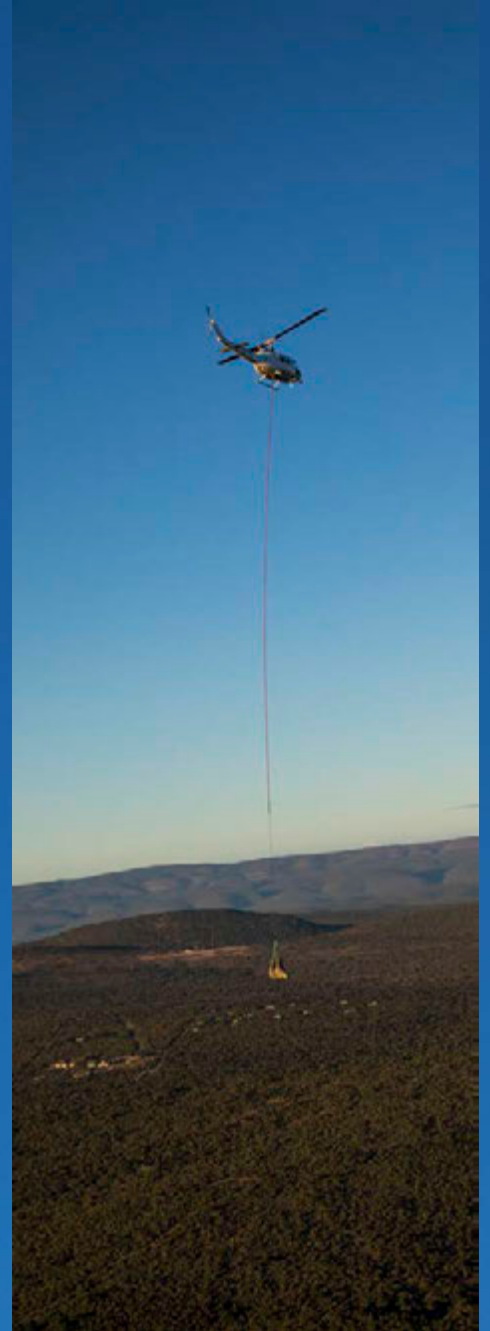

Fences!

Us humans have stopped migratory routes that have been followed by these creatures for 1000's of years. Where to go, when to go, how to get there. All naturally being passed down from generation to generation! We have desecrated these roots by literally 'building fences' and insisting it is now OUR land. It's insane!

Setting up Wild911

So, on my return to sunny California, I honestly felt I was running away from this biggest of issues. Run away, I will not! After doing research, I came to realize there isn't a Non Profit solely dedicated to 'all aspects' of Elephant & Rhino Relocation.

We are now, amazingly so, super proud to announce our official partnership with Conservation Solutions who have agreed to move animals, specifically Elephants & Rhinos for us.

Sleeping peacefully and on her way to a new location, a new life and a much, much safer home.

THE EXPERTS ARE ALREADY ON BOARD

GRANT
FOWLDS AND BROTHER WILLIAM

“I am a Social Entrepreneur dedicated to Saving Endangered Animals. I have been working in Africa in Wildlife for over 2 decades and discovered I could convince People that we have to be Agents of Change to Save our Planet. Blessed with my ability of language, and knowledge of growing up in the Bush, I was able to Educate and Empower our Future generations to Stop Wildlife Crime.

On my travels in Southern and Central Africa, I discovered humans have destructed large areas of pristine habitat. The word “Wildlife Community” has greater meaning and it is my vision to build Range Expansion in uninhabited areas. Working together as a team is vital and I serendipitously met Chris Holcroft who has a similar Vision, powerful imagery and a unique ability to drive Wild911 to populate these last remaining vestiges of green Eco Systems in Africa.”

ANOTHER EXPERT ALREADY ON BOARD

KESTER VICKERY

“I have been in the wildlife translocation space for 25 years and have moved large numbers of wildlife all over the continent from areas where they are in excess, to areas where they have either become extinct or occur in small numbers. More recently it has become my life’s mission to reverse the sudden decline in elephant populations that we have seen in so many African countries. This can be achieved through impact translocations from areas where they are in abundance to suitable protected recipient areas. These translocations can be done at scale and will make a tremendous difference not only to the elephants at a species level but also to the habitats within which these animals live and the communities that surround them.

Chris Holcroft’s passion and support for our projects will go a long way towards achieving the end objective of relieving human elephant conflict, helping protect habitats and ultimately securing the future of the species. Chris has personally contributed lots of time and funds to these projects and our hope is that others follow his example.

We fully endorse Chris Holcroft’s visionary Wild911 program and the difference they are trying to make in securing species and habitats.”

SO WHERE ARE YOUR DONATIONS SPENT?

- Become a custodian of the animals by helping us capture two 'sub family' herds from the main herd (we always relocate entire families). We then relocate them to two protected reserves that tick all the conservation boxes and meet the strict criteria for receiving these magnificent animals.
- Film a week before the capture to highlight the overpopulation.
- Interview all the main characters, Vets, Helicopter Pilots, Kester, Sean, Chris, Grant etc to show the Human element.
 - Film the capture and the transportation of the animals to their new reserve.
- Film a week at the new reserve watching the Elephants settle in to their new, safe, happy-forever homes.
- Professionally edit all the film and produce a 2 minute trailer and a 30 minute (reality / documentary) Pilot. The goal of this being that with our / your contacts, somebody in the media will see the potential for the promotion of Wild911 and what goes with it to the World!

You know how it all works...

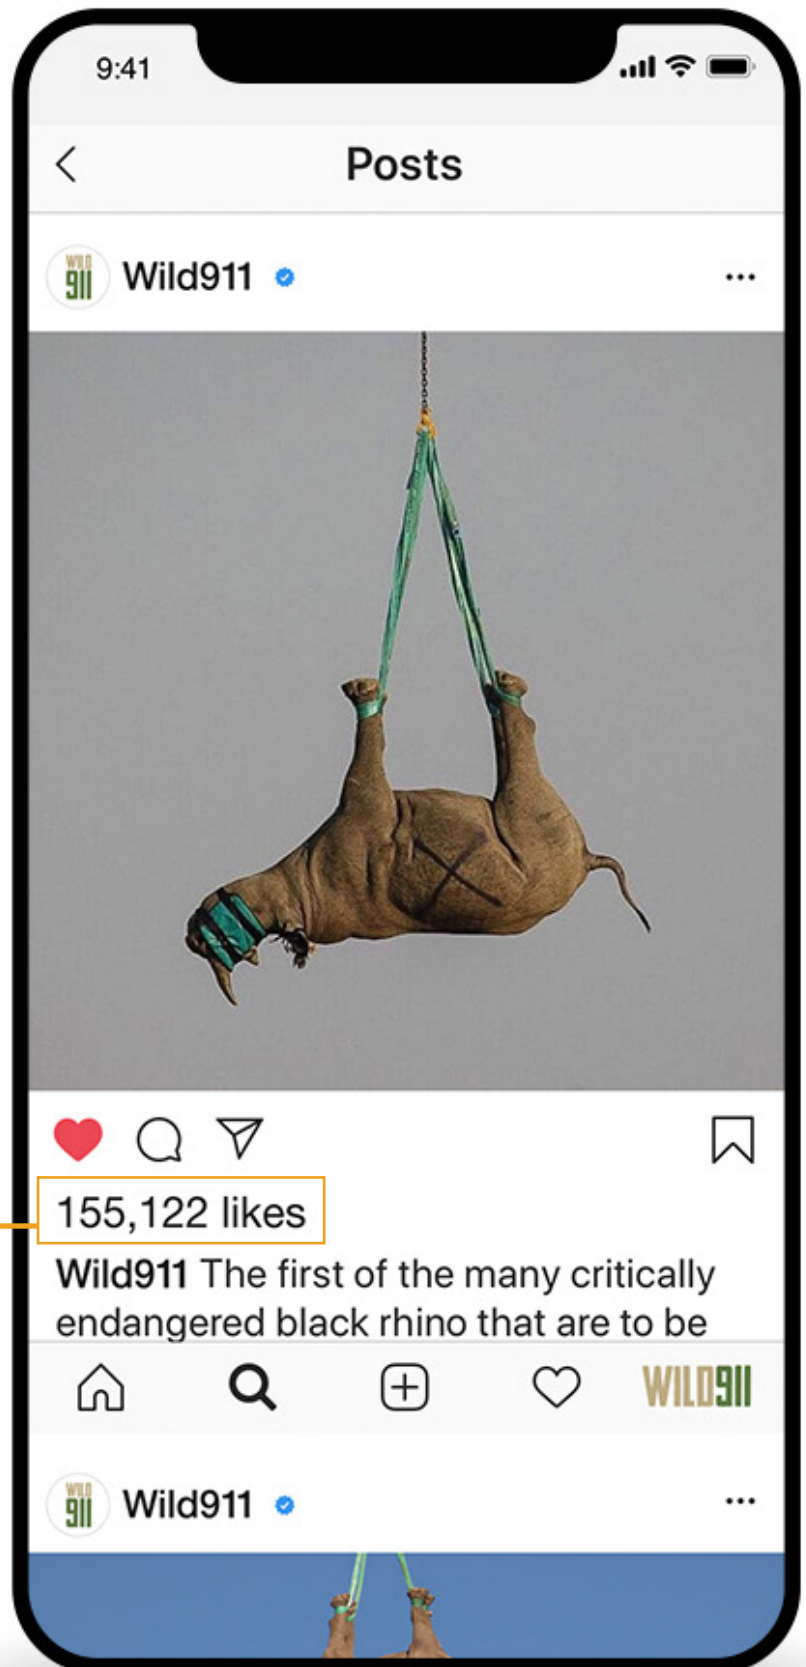

We get the necessary funds.
You get global brand exposure.
